RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Columbia University

Research Assistant

New York, NY

2018 – 2019

Advisor: Janet Metcalfe

Project: Learning from errors

- Created problem sets for study participants designed to maximize what students learn from errors while preparing for the New York State Math Regents exam
- Consulted on the experimental design, particularly in terms of how to explain common errors and relate to the correct problem-solving process

University of California at Berkeley

Research Assistant

Berkeley, CA

2006 – 2009

Advisor: Darlene Francis

Projects: The development of risk preferences in rat pups; the effects of rank in social hierarchies on behavior in a competitive task

- Ran a study testing whether prenatal stress affects risk-taking in rat pups; prenatally stressed pups took significantly more physically threatening risks than controls.
- Designed and ran a study testing whether within-group social rank predicts competitive performance, pairing unfamiliar rats matched on physical dominance cues but differing in rank; higher-ranked rats outperformed comparable peers, though not significantly.

University of California at Berkeley

Research Assistant

Berkeley, CA

2007 – 2008

Advisor: Jack Glaser

Project: Implicit motivation to control prejudice

- Ran participants for an experimental study examining the implicit motivation to control prejudice in a “Shooter Task”

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Private Tutor, Smarter Test Prep, 2011 – 2021

Independent Options Trader & Investment Analyst, 2014 – 2016

Sales Analyst, Aflac Insurance Company, 2010 – 2011
